

San Francisco Support Group Meeting

Friday, May 14, 2021 7:30 pm to 9:00 pm
Zoom Meeting

Until further notice, the National Alopecia Areata Foundation has suspended face-to-face meetings.

The Mission of NAAF supports those who are dealing with alopecia areata. The San Francisco Support Group will have Zoom meetings until it is safe to meet face-to-face and when Kaiser can again open its doors. Dr. Jenny Fu will be available for medical questions.

You do not need to have a Zoom account to join a meeting. Send an email to fredwahl@hotmail.com and you will receive the Zoom link a few days prior to the meeting. I recommend that you download the Zoom application and become familiar by connecting with family or friends to make sure your camera and speakers are working. I connected by Zoom and found the volume too low until I added external speakers.

We always make our meetings as comfortable as possible for those struggling with alopecia areata. We do our best to assure a confidential session so people may freely speak. As with face-to-face support meetings, those who care about someone who has alopecia areata are welcome – family and friends. We will make sure that everyone has the opportunity to share – you will be encouraged to speak but you may decline if you prefer to listen. The NAAF office does not provide technical support. We will be very limited with our technical support but we will accommodate as much as possible so nobody is left behind.
